Please answer all questions in the space provided. Try to answer every question, even if you think that your answer is probably wrong.

Spring, 2007

1. According to Kant, what kinds of knowledge a priori are human beings capable of having, and what kinds are they not capable of having?

2. What is an appearance for Kant, and with what does he contrast appearances?

3. How are the categories of understanding related to synthesis of a manifold?

4. What is the nature of causality according to Kant?

5. What is the difference between logical possibility and the category of possibility for Kant?

6. Describe the two varieties of idealism with which Kant contrasts transcendental idealism.

7. What does Kant mean when he says that pure reason is concerned with the unconditioned?

8. What are the characteristics that rational psychology attributes to the soul?

9. What is the general orientation of the side of the antithesis in the Antinomies?

10. Describe the idea that Kant says rational theology has of God.

Spring, 2009

1. According to Kant, why is there a problem in explaining how a priori concepts can refer to objects given in sense-perception?

2. Why did Kant think that a priori synthetic judgments are so important?

3. What is the basic reason that categories of the understanding apply to experience?

4. What is the nature of substance according to Kant?

5. What is the principle of the understanding that applies the category of existence to objects of experience?

6. What is the thesis of transcendental idealism?

7. What is an idea of reason, according to Kant?
8. Why does the fact that the soul is a simple substance not imply that the soul is indestructible?

9. What kind of attractiveness to reason does the thesis in the Antinomies have?

10. Why does existence not follow from the concept of a “most real being?”

Winter, 2012

1. What was Kant’s distinction between phenomena and noumena?

2. What was Kant's doctrine of transcendental idealism?

3. What is the nature of space, for Kant?

4. What is the relation between concepts and intuitions, according to Kant?

5. What did Kant mean when he held that substance is permanent?

6. What is the principle of actuality (or “existence”) for Kant?

7. What characteristics are attributed to the soul by rational psychology, according to Kant?

8. How are freedom and determinism compatible, according to Kant?

9. How did Kant describe the cosmological argument for the existence of God?

10. Why did Kant assume that humans have practical freedom?

Winter, 2015

1. What was the problem with pure concepts of the understanding that Kant raised in his letter to Herz of 1770?

2. Why did Kant think that the Principle of Contradiction is not adequate as the sole basis of metaphysical judgments?

3. How did Kant account for the a priori status of the judgments of geometry?

4. In what sense did Kant claim that objects in space and time are real?

5. Why did Kant think that it is necessary to refer presentations to a single “I”?

6. Why did Kant think it necessary that there be transcendental schemata?

7. What did Kant take to be the principle of the possibility of objects of experience?

8. Why did Kant think that both the thesis and the antithesis of the First Antinomy are false?
9. What did Kant take to be the fundamental flaw in the physiotheological proof for the existence of God?

10. What did Kant take to be the idea of the highest good?